*Come Fore position is like a Front position in motion. The handler is moving backwards while the dog is moving forwards.

*False Turns are a freestyle move described in Level II of the CRO Rally Division. They are called "False" Turns because the team appears to be turning left, but ends up turning right.

To do a False Left Turn the team executes a left turn (90 degrees) after which the handler begins moving backwards, calling the dog to Come Fore. (Come Fore position is like a Front position in motion. The handler is moving backwards while the dog is moving forwards.) After the dog turns A FULL 180 degrees and is moving towards the handler (Come Fore), the handler returns to the position in which the team approached the station (Heel/Side) by pivoting 180 degrees right (to Heel) or left (to Side). This move is performed in motion; there are no stops or pauses. On this pattern, this move covers quite a bit of ring space, so take steps in each direction and position. Do not rush through it.

To do a False Right Turn the team executes a right turn (90 degrees) and completes the move as described above, returning to Heel or Side (the position in which they started the move).

A demo of this pattern is here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9l0E9regAN4>
